PILLAR 1

Environment and biodiversity

Ecosystem Regulation Balance Harmony

Botanical Collection Functional Biodiversity Resilience

Ecological Restoration Awareness

Biodiversity Preservation: At the Heart of Our Commitment

Botanical Collection

Each year, we gather 1,000 seeds in our park to establish ecological corridors. These corridors play a vital role in storing carbon, preventing soil erosion, filtering pollutants, and reducing the need for agricultural inputs.

Habitat Restoration

We implement ecological management practices to enhance floral diversity, safeguard local wildlife, and support essential pollinators.

Redesigned Waterways

By re-meandering waterways and stabilizing riverbanks, we improve both water quality and flow, ensuring a healthier ecosystem.

Soil Health

In partnership with INRAE, we focus on studying and enhancing soil biodiversity. This work is critical to maintaining the health of our soils, which directly influences the quality of our grapes and, ultimately, our wines.

Elegance

An Exceptional Terroir

98 hectares surrounding the estate, located on the renowned terrace 4—a terroir of deep gravel that has retained its unique contours since 1855.

A Rethought Vineyard

Since 1981, we have steadily increased the proportion of Cabernet Sauvignon from 36% to 70%, reflecting our commitment to this noble varietal.

Consistent Quality

Our winemaking philosophy prioritizes authentic fruit expression and balanced alcohol levels, steadfastly resisting fleeting trends.

A Distinctive Signature

Since 2021, we have adopted even more rigorous selection criteria, emphasizing Cabernet Sauvignon in the blend and refining the use of new oak for greater finesse.

A Future Focused on Precision

With the arrival of cutting-edge technical equipment in July 2025, we will continue to enhance the precision and excellence of our winemaking practices.

PILLAR 4

Vintage Aging Evolution Complexity Tradition

One of the estate's hidden treasures is the remarkable aging capacity of its wines. Tasting older vintages, such as the iconic 1989, showcases the exceptional quality of our terroir. Cantemerle's signature elegance endures across the decades.
